What is an Orthodontist?

An Orthodontist is a dentist who specializes in the treatment of problems with the alignment of your teeth. They can tell you how early Orthodontic treatment can prevent more serious problems from developing. If required, the Orthodontist will provide a complete treatment plan, specific to your needs, usually involving braces.

Braces are the most common Orthodontic treatment. Braces not only help align teeth, they also help align the jaw so that the teeth have more room and the mouth can function better. Braces consist of small brackets, which can be ceramic or metal, that are bonded directly to the teeth and require a thin wire to help move the teeth into place. Your Orthodontist will recommend to you the best option for your treatment plan because overall the goal of Orthodontics is to give you a healthy and beautiful smile!

Today's Advanced Orthodontic Treatment

Fortunately, today's braces are less noticeable than those of the past. And, with the most advanced braces, such as 3M Self-Ligating Braces, you will not have to wear the bulky elastic "bands and rings" that can become stained, requiring your Orthodontist to change them frequently. Elastic bands can also retain food particles, making it more difficult for you to keep braces clean. Finally, there are no bands to put on or take off - and this can mean quicker and fewer appointments.

Orthodontic treatment helps patients have a beautiful smile.
